Dear Sir:

Enclosed is a piece, cut from the local newspaper, which has prompted me to write this letter.

When taxing for sewer and water services in residential areas, I feel it would be fairer to charge the same amount for each home rather than so much per foot of frontage. Each home receives exactly the same benefit from these services so why should the person on a corner lot or a lot with a wide frontage pay more? There should, of course, be an additional cost for duplex and apartment buildings.

Yours truly,

ON TAXES

Complain about your taxes in a place where it might do some good. The Ontario Committee on Taxation has asked for public participation in a study it is conducting.

Lancelot J. Smith, committee chairman, has asked individuals and associations, to submit opinions or suggestions on any subject of provincial or local taxation.

The committee is to study the ways in which provincial and municipal governments in Ontario raise funds to finance public services. It is then to make suggestions on how taxes may be more equitably collected.

Submissions should be addressed to the Secretary, Committee on Taxation, 88 University Avenue, Toronto 1.
